Special Notice Regarding Application of UG 1st Semester 2021

In some cases total marks of a subject is available without mentioning distribution of marks between theory and practical part. These applicants are requested to put obtained marks in theory and practical field following the example.

Let full marks is 100 (theory 70 and practical 30) and obtained marks is 80, then theory marks will be $80 \times 0.70 = 56$ and practical marks $80 \times 0.30 = 24$

This is done for avoiding the complexity in checking and this will have not any implication in fixing merit position.
